

Social Media Policy

Taylor in Toronto is more than just a blog, it's a virtual community.

Comments, likes, and shares of content are encouraged.

- Be kind. When in doubt ask yourself, “Is this the way I would like to be treated?”
- Taylor in Toronto is a place where everyone is treated with the highest level of dignity, equity, and respect.
- Nobody likes a negative Nelly - positivity is infectious – spread it.

- Inappropriate language, hate speech, and spam content will not be tolerated. It will be reported and deleted at discretion.
- All posts, pictures, and content on Taylor In Toronto belong solely to the creators - subject to copyright infringement without consent.

